No teen should suffer the challenges of homelessness. The Ryan Home Project recognizes the harmful reality that many of Noble's middle and high school age youth do not have homes to return to each day and that their fates are inextricably woven into the fates of our communities. In order to support both these vulnerable young people and the overall health of our communities, the Ryan Home Project is committed to ensuring that every young person in North Berwick, Berwick and Lebanon have the security of a stable home from which they can work to develop the foundational habits, skills and knowledge that they will need for the next phases of their lives.

The Birchtree Center's mission is to promote independence, engaging relationships, and productive lives for children and youth with autism at home, at school, and in the community.
